November 26, 2014

Dear Parent/Guardian,

At our Board of Education meeting on Monday, November 24, 2014 we had a wonderful turnout of people who came to hear a presentation regarding the PARCC tests that will be administered this school year in lieu of the NJASK and HSPA. During the presentation there were many great questions, and we wanted to begin to memorialize both the questions and answers in a Q&A document. Additionally, we wanted to create an email address for parents to ask other questions. The email address we have created is parcc@bernardsboe.com. The address is set up and active for people to use right away. As questions are sent in they will be reviewed and where answers can be provided, both the question and answer will be added to the Q&A document.

In order to create a central location for information related to the PARCC tests, a new page has been added to our district website. Please refer to our district website, bernardsboe.com and then click the "Parents and Students" tab. There you will see the link titled "PARCC." Beginning next week, we will use this location of our website to post resources for parents including items such as our district's Q&A, information from the New Jersey Department of Education and other useful links. Thank you for your attention and have a wonderful Thanksgiving.

Sincerely,

Nick Markarian
